bringing back the GOLD MINES...

We at GEDC are aiming to digitally compile all the old mining sites in the Greenstone area. We would like to work with exploration and mining companies of today and tomorrow to assist with 3D modeling. Our objective is to provide the region with a 3D database which coincides with the Northern Development and Mines regional library, which is currently housed at GEDC in Geraldton. This will encourage new exploration in existing and new potential exploration sites. In fact, throughout the region, GEDC fosters and encourages the start-up and operation of successful enterprises in all economic sectors. It is GEDC's belief that the once-booming Greenstone belt will again thrive with the help of the current exploration activity and the many on-going projects in the area.
